

The essence of a trading system using the Market Profile indicator:

Currency pairs: major

Timeframe: M30

Market Profile: default settings (day session)

Trading rules:

We are waiting for the closing of the trading day and the formation of price accumulation

The daily close of the price above the accumulation area is relevant for a buy transaction
Daily close of the price below the accumulation area is relevant for the sale
Trades are opened during a new day (any time) after the correction

An important point when opening a deal, the price should not yet update the extremes of the previous day for purchases, this is high for sales, respectively, low

The percentage of profitable trades in this system is about 90%

This means that the price updates the extremes of the previous day with such a probability during a new day.

S / L for the lower boundary of the accumulation area for buy transactions

S / L for the upper boundary of the accumulation area for sell transactions

T / P minimum high target of the previous day for buy transactions T / P

minimum low target of the previous day for sell transactions

Example of a sell deal

Example of a buy trade

